

Einsatz von Zusatzstoffen

The use of food additives

Published in Fleischerei Technik International (24)2008, 1-2, p. 12-16

Summary

In many cases, food additives are essential to the production of foodstuffs. However, they shouldn't simply be used uncritically, as can be seen from the examples of pickling salt and smoking smoke. Emulsifiers and stabilising agents are among the most essential additives used in the meat industry.